The Ephebic Oath	Martin Cohen '50 Chair, 21 st Century Foundation We men and women graduating from The City College of New York, do this day, after the manner of the Athenian youths of old about to enter public life take this oath of devotion to the City of New York: we will never bring disgrace to our city by any act of dishonesty or cowardice nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city's laws, and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those about us who are prone to annul them and set them at naught; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty; and thus, in all these ways, we will strive to transmit this city and not only not less but greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

President's Message

Vince Boudreau

President

Congratulations, Graduates!

Today, you join the thousands upon thousands of men and women who have graduated from The City College of New York since its founding, and moved on to make the world a better place. Before you leave campus, make sure you take a moment to page through the honor roll of those who came before you, so that you fully understand what it means to take your place—equally accomplished, equally exalted, equally vested with skill and capacity—among them.

As you move from our campus, I would like to urge upon you some final thoughts. First and most important: trust your education. Trust in the store of knowledge and wisdom that your time at CCNY has invested in you. You came to us exactly as young people have come through the decades—neither more nor less prepared or worthy of this place. You leave us now entirely fit to be the modern heirs of our legacy and the appropriate stewards of our vision. You do not yet know what you will accomplish, or to what challenges your life will lead you—but neither had those who came before you. We are proud of what you've been, and eagerly anticipate the discovery of what you will become. We are also grateful for the days that we shared together on this campus.

Second, understand that your college experience has not been the same as that of many people you will meet outside our campus confines. We have tried to create a community on this campus where nobody is an outlier—where respect of difference and the serious consideration of alternative perspectives is fundamental to how we think and work. To the extent that we've succeeded—and accomplishing these goals is never something about which to be complacent—we have modeled a better world than the one you may enter. That experience equips you with special insights, with better and more just ways of thinking and interacting with one another. You have hopefully adopted a deeper appreciation of what can happen when everyone's contributions and experiences are acknowledged: when we account for the insights of each person, and strive to understand and salve pain that may not be our own, that may be alien to our experience.

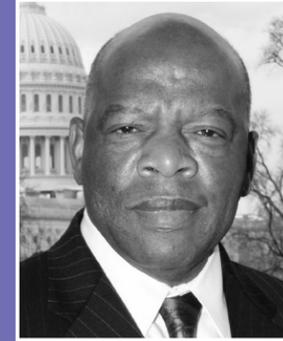

Take those insights into the world with you. Understand that we have but planted a seed on this campus, but because you were present at that sowing, we expect you to tend the garden of mutual respect wherever you go, and for the length of your days. To live up to these expectations will take courage and fortitude. It will mean honoring the history of this great institution by bringing your best self into the world each day, and falling back, when you need it, on the lessons you learned on our campus. It will mean drawing on the tremendous reserves of tenacity that so many of you have displayed in merely getting into CCNY, or coming to campus each day, or making it to this, your graduation day.

I give you this charge knowing how strong you can be, how smart you all are. I ask you to walk this path because I know you can, and for the sake of our society, I hope that you will. I ask you to do what generations of young people before you have done, every year, in this place and at this time. I ask you to move into the world as true sons and daughters of City College, and live lives that we will celebrate as reflecting our very highest values, our greatest expectations, and our fondest dreams.

With my warmest congratulations,

Vince Boudreau
President, CCNY

Honorary Degree

The Honorable John Robert Lewis

Keynote Speaker

Often called “one of the most courageous persons the Civil Rights Movement ever produced,” John Robert Lewis has dedicated his life to protecting human rights, securing civil liberties, and building what he calls “The Beloved Community” in America.

Born outside of Troy, Alabama, in 1940, Lewis, the son of sharecroppers, was inspired as a boy by the activism surrounding the Montgomery Bus Boycott and the words of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.

As a student at Fisk University, Lewis organized sit-in demonstrations at segregated lunch counters in Nashville. In 1961, he participated in the Freedom Rides, which challenged segregation at interstate bus terminals across the South. He was beaten severely by angry mobs and arrested by police for challenging the injustice of Jim Crow segregation.

During the height of the Movement, Lewis was named Chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), which he helped form. By 1963, he was dubbed one of the Big Six leaders of the Civil Rights Movement, and was an architect of and a keynote speaker at the historic March on Washington in August of that year.

Lewis coordinated SNCC efforts to organize voter registration drives and community action programs during the 1964 Mississippi Freedom Summer and, the following year, he helped spearhead one of the most seminal moments of the Civil Rights Movement. On March 7, 1965, notable Civil Rights leader Hosea Williams and Lewis led over 600 peaceful, orderly protestors across the Edmund Pettus Bridge in Selma, Alabama. When the marchers were brutally attacked by state troopers, coverage of what became known as “Bloody Sunday” revealed to all the senseless cruelty of the segregated South and helped hasten the passage of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Despite more than 40 arrests, physical attacks and serious injuries, Lewis remained a devoted advocate of nonviolence and voter registration. Under his leadership as Director of the Voter Education Project, nearly four million minorities were added to the voter rolls.

In 1977, Lewis was appointed by President Jimmy Carter to direct more than 250,000 volunteers of the federal agency ACTION, and in 1981, he was elected to the Atlanta City Council.

In November 1986, Lewis was elected to Congress, where he continues to serve as the U.S. Representative of Georgia's Fifth Congressional District. He is Senior Chief Deputy Whip for the Democratic Party in leadership in the House, a member of the House Ways & Means Committee, a member of its Subcommittee on Income Security and Family Support, and Ranking Member of its Subcommittee on Oversight.

Lewis holds a B.A. in Religion and Philosophy from Fisk University, and is a graduate of the American Baptist Theological Seminary. He has been awarded over 50 honorary degrees, and is the recipient of numerous awards, including the highest civilian honor, the Medal of Freedom, granted by President Barack Obama, the NAACP Spingarn Medal, and the John F. Kennedy “Profile in Courage Award” for Lifetime Achievement.

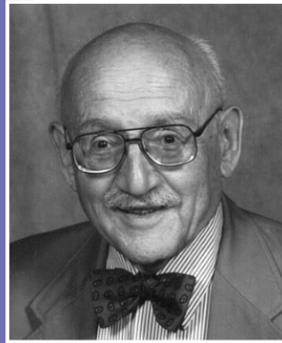

Lewis co-authored the #1 New York Times bestselling graphic memoir MARCH, winner of the National Book Award. His book, Across That Bridge: Life Lessons and a Vision for Change, won a NAACP Image Award, and his biography, Walking With The Wind: A Memoir of the Movement, received the Anisfield-Wolf Book Award and the Robert F. Kennedy Book Award.

John Lewis lives in Atlanta, Georgia. He has one son, John Miles. The City College of New York is proud to honor him today with the degree, Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Honorary Degree

Edward S. Plotkin

'53CE, '56MCE, '58MBA, P.E.

Edward S. Plotkin, B.E., M.B.A., P.E., earned his B.E. degree in Civil Engineering from City College in 1953. After serving in the military, he earned an M.C.E. in Civil Engineering from CCNY and, later, an M.B.A. in Engineering Management from the CUNY Baruch School of Business.

Ed, as he is commonly known, is a Professional Engineer in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Washington, D.C., and Massachusetts. He is a member of many professional organizations, including: the Municipal Engineers of New York City and the New York State Society of Professional Engineers (NYSSPE, Westchester Chapter), both of which he served as President; the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE), of which he is a Fellow (he served as a Director of the Metropolitan Section and Chair of the Geotechnical Group); Director in the Westchester Municipal Planning Federation; a member and past Trustee of The Moles; and was the Chair of the Village of Dobbs Ferry Planning Board for 50 years, reviewing, planning, and approving land development and conservation projects.

Ed is also affiliated with the Society of Mining Engineers—Underground Construction Organization, the International Tunneling Association, where he served as the UN NGO; the Society of American Military Engineers; and the New York State Highway Superintendents Association (Presidents Committee). He was Chair of the Westchester County Professional Prequalification Board.

Ed has worked in all facets of the industry. As a contractor, he was Vice President of tunnel constructor Maclean Grove, where he was Project Manager for the 63rd Street Cross-town Subway section in New York City, two cavern stations on the Washington, D.C. Metro, a station cavern on the Boston subway, and a section of the New York City DEP Water Tunnel between Yonkers and Queens.

As a designer, he was Assistant Director with DeLeuw Cather (now Parsons Transportation) for the 1970s plans for the 2nd Avenue Subway, and was later a Consultant with the AECOM team for the present 2nd Avenue Subway project. He served as Co-Chair, NYSSPE Task Force, Tappan Zee Bridge replacement study, from 2002 to 2012.

In government, he was Westchester County's Commissioner of Public Works, where his responsibilities included all county facilities maintenance and operation, and a $200 million + annual budget for new and on-going capital programs. Ed's current consultancy activities include constructability issues, peer review, mediation, and Dispute Board Reviews.

In academia, Ed is an Adjunct Professor, who taught physics at Manhattan College and environmental science at Mercy College. He is the immediate past president of the CCNY Engineering School Alumni Board, and an active and valued member of the Civil Engineering Advisory Group (CEAG) of the CCNY Alumni, which organizes professional forums and field trips to construction sites for current students. For many years, he also taught environmental science to incarcerated men and women at Sing Sing and Bedford Correctional Facilities in Westchester.

Ed has been a recipient of many honors, including Construction Engineer of the Year in 1986, and the Engineer of the Year Award in 1991 by the NSPE Westchester Section, and the Engineer of the Year Award by the Municipal Engineers of New York City in 1998. The Underground Construction Association of the Society of Mining Engineers awarded Ed the 2010 Lifetime Achievement Award. CCNY awarded Ed with the Alumni Association Service Award. He was further honored in 2011 by City College with the Townsend Harris Medal which recognizes excellence in post-graduate achievement. The City College of New York is proud to honor him today with the degree, Doctor of Science, honoris causa.

Valedictorian

Elizabeth Yim

2019 Valedictorian

Bayside, Queens, native Elizabeth Yim, the daughter of Chinese immigrants, is the first CUNY School of Medicine at City College student named CCNY Valedictorian. Yim is from the medical school's third cohort. She completed the three-year accelerated BS degree portion of CCNY's seven-year medical program with flying colors and a 3.98 GPA. Along the way, Yim received the Dean's Medal for Academic Achievement, the Rudin Research Fellowship and the Mack Lipkin Broader Horizon's Fellowship. Her undergraduate experience largely mirrors CUNY School of Medicine's mission to prepare medical professionals from underrepresented minorities to serve in historically underserved communities. The Mack Lipkin Fellowship in 2018 led her to the Ocean Road Cancer Institute in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, that nation's only cancer treatment facility. There she designed and led an independent research project to investigate barriers to receiving confirmatory screening and treatment among women with cervical lesions or suspected cervical cancer. Earlier, Yim had won the 2016 Top Presenter Award at the Annual Biomedical Research Conference for Minority Students in Tampa. Her research was aimed at improving disproportionately high lung cancer mortality rates among Chinese American and African American smokers in New York City. "I want to help underserved populations, especially immigrant populations in New York," she said of her post medical school plans inspired by her City College experience. "I have met so many amazing mentors and have been given incredible opportunities here at CCNY to learn not only about medicine, but also about social determinants of health. I plan on incorporating patient advocacy and public health work into my future practice." Her mentor Holly G. Atkinson, MD, describes Yim as "possessing a stellar blend of academic achievement, leadership skills, integrity and a passion for service." Yim, who'll receive her medical degree in 2022, is considering practicing family medicine or emergency medicine.

Salutatorian

Kevin Zijian Jiang

2019 Salutatorian

In seven remarkable years, Kevin Zijian Jiang went from a 15-year-old recent immigrant from the Chinese port city of Guangzhou, who barely spoke English, to CCNY Class of 2019 Salutatorian with a 3.96 GPA. He'll receive a BS in mechanical engineering from the Grove School of Engineering and is mulling pursuing a PhD in microfluidics or attending medical school. Jiang's accomplishment is made more impressive by the adversity he endured after arriving in New York. While learning how to navigate a high school curriculum taught in a language he had limited grasp off, his father was diagnosed with stage 3 esophageal cancer. Jiang and his mother offered long-term care. Jiang would work on papers, projects and study while keeping vigil at his father's hospital bedside until the end came on Dec. 16, 2016. Through it all, Jiang worked on advanced projects that ranged from microcapillary device development (redesigned droplet-based microfluidics device for emulsions formation, which benefits in medical diagnoses and targeted drug delivery, using P1000 commercial puller machine and capillaries) to reverse engineering a wireless mouse. A patent has been filed for this innovative design. He received the Gerard and Doris Lowen Mechanical Engineering Scholarship in spring 2018. Jiang explains the source of his motivation: "My parents made sacrifices by leaving China, so that I would have the opportunity to pursue my American dream. And if I want to honor my family and fellow Americans, I will find a way to positively contribute to a country that has given me hope." And CCNY, with its famously diverse campus has been the perfect setting to fulfill his dreams. In his community, Jiang has served as a media equipment technician in Jesus Baptist New York Church in Queens. He also aspires to get more socially involved in helping Chinese immigrant families, especially those that have cancer patients.

Graduates & Degree Candidates

-  Summa Cum Laude
-  Magna Cum Laude
- * Cum Laude

College honors for baccalaureate degrees are conferred on graduating seniors who meet standards approved by the Academic Senate. Based on A = 4.0, the grade point averages required for honors are 3.8 for summa cum laude, 3.5 for magna cum laude, and 3.2 for cum laude. Graduation honors are computed on the basis of all college level work taken by students, including work taken at institutions other than City College. Determination of these honors is final when all work is complete.

+ School of Education graduation honors are awarded to candidates for master's degrees and advanced certificates who have a grade point average of 3.7 or higher with no grade below B, and who have exhibited high personal and professional qualities.

About Commencement

Commencement originated in the Middle Ages as the ceremony at which university graduates were initiated into the teaching profession. The City College's first Commencement took place in 1853 at Biblo's Saloon, a large beer garden on Broadway near Houston Street, when seventeen young men graduated from the Free Academy, as the College was then known. In seven of the years between then and now, the College celebrated a winter and a spring graduation; today's ceremony is the College's 173rd Commencement.

The Academic Costumes vary mostly by the colorful hoods. The gowns of most universities in this country are black. However, Yale, Harvard and many foreign universities have brilliantly colored gowns. The shortest hood is the bachelor's; the longest and broadest is the doctor's; and the master's is midway between these in size. The hoods, worn over the shoulders and down the backs of the faculty, indicate the degrees and the institutions of the wearers. The lining of the hood, in silk, gives the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet binding or edging designates the subject of the degree earned.

Among the most frequently seen colors are:

Architecture	Blue-Violet
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Business	Drab
Economics	Copper
Education	Light Blue
Engineering	Orange
Fine Arts	Brown
Journalism	Crimson
Law	Purple
Medicine	Green
Music	Pink
Philosophy	Dark Blue
Science	Golden Yellow
Social Science	Cream

The Academic Procession is rooted in pageantry from the early, medieval universities. These schools were usually in the charge of the clergy, and the order of march followed the tradition of religious processions: younger and newer groups preceded the older, with the highest ranking participants at the end. In today's ceremony the degree candidates will march first, led by the deans of their respective schools or programs. Alumni celebrating their various class reunions will march next; this year we welcome members of the Classes of 1979, 1969, 1968, 1959 and 1949, followed by the faculty. The final marchers will be members of the platform party, including deans, officers of the College, university representatives, the President's Medal and honorary degree recipients, various dignitaries, the Provost and the President.

The Chief Marshal precedes the President and carries the mace. Though now purely ceremonial, the tradition of the mace bearer dates back to medieval England, when an official taking office or opening courts needed a bodyguard. In those times the mace, or spiked club, was a formidable weapon that was held ready to protect the official.

The Mace of The City College, designed and built by Bernard Bernstein of the department of industrial education, incorporates in its design various symbols associated with the College. The beaver forms the finial of the mace; the six flanges, transformed from the spikes of a medieval hand weapon, echo the wrought iron and masonry arches spanning Convent Avenue; below the flanges, the circular designs symbolize the schools of the College; the three medals at the base repeat the seal of the College. The mace is composed in such a way that many of the 144 originally separate parts can be removed and then restored or replaced without involving most of the other parts. The principal materials of the mace include a walnut shaft with sterling silver mounts and gold-plated emblems.

The President's Gavel is carried by the Provost, who is the chief academic officer of the College. It was given to the College in 1958 in honor of the founder of The City College of New York, Townsend Harris, by his grand nephew, Richard H. Rush. Designed by Professor Simon Lissim of the department of art, the ceremonial gavel is made of gold and silver and has ends of Brazilian rosewood. A ribbon engraved with the names of the College's presidents encircles the handle. The names of the schools of the College are engraved on the hammer; the college seal is set into the two sides of the handle.

A Brief History of The City College of New York

This year The City College of New York celebrates the 172nd anniversary of its founding. The need for an institution like The City College was recognized as early as 1847, when the State Legislature authorized a local referendum to determine whether a public college should be established in the City of New York; at the time, the city had a population of a half-million people and two private colleges, which had high tuition and only 247 pupils. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the proposition, and the Free Academy was established in a new building at Lexington Avenue and 23rd Street. The doors to its first entering class opened in January, 1849, and a class of seventeen young men graduated in 1853; with friends and family members, that first commencement was too large for the chapel at the Free Academy, so it was celebrated in Biblo's beer garden.

In 1866 the name of the Free Academy was changed by legislative act to The College of the City of New York. Since then, it has been called CCNY — an unofficial designation the College retained even after its name was again changed in 1929 to The City College. Students, alumni and friends call the College, simply, "City." The college colors, lavender and black, were chosen by the student body in 1866. The beaver, symbol of intelligence, industry and determination, was voted to be the College's official athletics' mascot by a student-wide poll in 1934.

The governing body of the College, originally the Board of Education, was replaced in 1900 by a separate Board of Trustees appointed by the Mayor. In 1926, the Board of Higher Education was established to govern both City and Hunter College (founded in 1870), and subsequently the entire City University system, established in 1961. After primary responsibility for funding the University became that of

New York State rather than New York City, an enlarged Board of Trustees, appointed by the Governor and the Mayor, assumed control in 1980.

The City College of New York, originally limited to undergraduate programs in classical and practical courses of study, has continually enlarged both the breadth and the depth of its offerings. Today it offers more than sixty undergraduate programs and majors and more than forty graduate programs, including PhD programs in six disciplines.

The City College moved to its present location in 1907, and now occupies a thirty-five acre Neo-Gothic and modern campus on historic St. Nicholas Heights. It is really a small university, with a College of Liberal Arts and Science and four professional schools — the Bernard and Anne Spitzer School of Architecture, the Grove School of Engineering, School of Education, and the CUNY School of Medicine (formerly the Sophie Davis School of Biomedical Education).

The City College is the nation's flagship institution of public higher education, predating the midwestern state and land-grant colleges by two decades. It is ranked #1 by the Harvard-based Opportunity Insights out of 369 selective public colleges in the United States on the overall mobility index. For more than 169 years it has been a primary avenue of advancement for generations of New Yorkers who might not have had the chance to attend college. Today it continues to fulfill the aim of its founder, Townsend Harris, who said: "Open the doors to all — Let the children of the rich and the poor take their seats together and know of no distinction save that of industry, good conduct and intellect."
