

Photo courtesy of Robert Branch, Rick Savinon, Angel Abreu, and Jorge Abreu.

Making Your Mark: A Workshop with Studio K.O.S
Wednesday, September 29, 2021
5:00p.m. - 7:30p.m. ET
Zoom, online platform

How do you make your mark in the world and how do you reshape canonical works to reflect who you are? Join the artist collective Studio K.O.S. \(Kids of Survival\) for a workshop on art-making as an emancipatory education practice. Learn the strategies they use to bring their experiences as Dominican-Americans and native New Yorkers into their art, research, and teaching.

LEARN MORE and REGISTER HERE

This workshop is open to all students of The City College School of Education. No prior experience required.

Hosted by CUNY Dominican Studies Institute, The City College of New York School of Education, and the Museum of Modern Art.

Accessibility

This workshop will have live CART captioning and automated Spanish translation. American Sign Language (ASL) interpretation is available for public programs upon request with two weeks' advance notice. Please contact AdultPrograms@moma.org or (212) 708-9781 to make a request for accommodations.

MoMA

CUNY DOMINICAN
STUDIES INSTITUTE

School of Education

The City College of New York