General Rights

• You cannot be treated differently based on certain characteristics, such as race, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, disability, age, source of payment, sex, gender identity, or gender expression.

• Your immigration status or national origin cannot affect your emergency care or services. You can ask for an interpreter if it is hard for you to understand or speak English.

Hospital Emergency Department Rights

• You can have an advocate from the local rape crisis program stay with you during the exam.

•You can have an exam in any hospital emergency department to collect evidence and provide certain medical care related to the sexual assault at no cost to you. If you do not have health insurance, or you decline to use your health insurance, you can ask the hospital to bill the Office of Victim Services.

• You can have medicine to prevent pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections (STIs, also known as STDs) for free. For HIV prevention, a 7-day pack of medicine can be started at the hospital.

• You will be provided information on appropriate follow-up medical care.

Law Enforcement Rights

• You can contact the police or prosecutor for information on the criminal investigation or legal proceedings. The police or prosecutor will inform you of any legal action related to your case.

• If you choose to report to the police, your evidence will be tested within 100 days. You may contact the police for information on a DNA match.

• If you choose not to report to the police, your evidence will be stored for 20 years, or until you decide to release it. You will be notified if your evidence is moved and before the storage period ends.

CYBER-SEXUAL ABUSE RESOURCES

Cyber-Sexual Abuse Terms & Definitions

As cyber sexual abuse is a phenomenon that has only recently come into public conversation, it can be hard to know what cyber sexual abuse actually looks like. More commonly known as revenge porn, cyber sexual abuse is defined as "any type of sexual harassment, exploitation, or abuse that takes place through screens". There are many different forms of cyber sexual abuse that fall underneath that umbrella definition. Below are some definitions of different forms cyber sexual abuse can take. However, it is important to note that this list is not exhaustive and as the online world continues to evolve, it is likely new forms of cyber sexual abuse will also occur.

Note: the below definitions could be triggering to read for some survivors. Proceed with caution.

Term	Definition	Source
Image-based Abuse (Colloquially known as revenge porn)	When a perpetrator (sometimes an ex-partner) distributes sexually explicit images of someone online without their consent and sometimes without their knowledge. This can either be when it is posted to a specific website or sent to other people without the photographed person's consent.	Citation
Upskirting	When the perpetrator takes photographs of the survivor's private areas underneath their clothing (such as underneath their skirt as the word implies).	Citation
Sexting	When someone sends sexually explicit text messages or photos to another party.	Citation
Dick Picks	This is a form of sexting. This is when the perpetrator sends pictures of their genitals to another party. This is a form of cyber sexual abuse when said pictures are sent to someone without the receiving party's consent.	Citation
Zoom bombing	When a perpetrator interrupts an online meeting (sometimes on Zoom, sometimes not) by playing pornography on the screen or spouting hate or racist speech.	Citation
Cyber Stalking	When one party uses online platforms such as social media to stalk another person and invade their privacy. This type of cyber sexual abuse normally is a series of repeated behaviors that make the other party feel unsafe.	Citation
Sextortion	This is sexual extortion, when one party coerces another into sending them sexual images.	Citation
Doxxing	This is defined as sharing a person's private information online without their consent.	Citation
Child pornography	Creating or posting sexually explicit images of children (anyone under the age of 18) online.	Citation
DeepFake	Using Artificial intelligence to create fake, convincing images of someone doing something sexually explicit. When used to create nude images, this phenomenon is called DeepNudes.	Citation

School Resources

National Organizations

End Rape On Campus

End Rape on Campus (EROC) works to end campus sexual violence through direct support for survivors and their communities; prevention through education; and policy reform at the campus, local, state, and federal levels.

Know Your IX

Know Your IX is a survivor- and youth-led project of Advocates for Youth that aims to empower students to end sexual and dating violence in their schools. We envision a world in which all students can pursue their civil right to educations free from violence and harassment. We recognize that gender violence is both a cause of inequity and a consequence of it, and we believe that women, transgender, and gender non-conforming students will not have equality in education or opportunity until the violence ends. We draw upon the civil rights law Title IX as an alternative to the criminal legal system — one that is more just and responsive to the educational, emotional, financial, and stigmatic harms of violence.

It's On Us

The mission of It's On Us is to build the movement to combat campus sexual assault by engaging all students, including young men, and activating the largest student organizing program of its kind in grassroots awareness and prevention education programs.

National Women's Law Center, Education & Title IX

The National Women's Law Center fights for gender justice—in the courts, in public policy, and in our society—working across the issues that are central to the lives of women and girls. We use the law in all its forms to change culture and drive solutions to the gender inequity that shapes our society and to break down the barriers that harm all of us—especially women of color, LGBTQ people, and low-income women and families.
