

Photo album: CMLL Faculty Lecture Series. Distinguished Professor, Jennifer Roberts.

<https://www.flickr.com/photos/201720443@N03/albums/72177720332801675/>

The City College of New York

Classical and Modern Languages & Literatures

CMLL Faculty Lecture Series

Talk:

"Modern Athens and the Burden of the Past."

In this talk, Distinguished Professor Jennifer Roberts explores how Athens has a remarkable history that entails both achievements hard to equal and traumas impossible to forget. She will address the question: How does this history shape the way Athenians regard themselves today?

About Distinguished Professor Jennifer Roberts: Ph. D., Yale University, Professor of Classical Languages and History. She is particularly interested in Greek historiography, war and peace in antiquity, and political theory. She has edited the works of Herodotus and Thucydides, and her books include: Accountability in Athenian Government (1982); Athens on Trial: The Antidemocratic Tradition in Western Thought (1994); and Herodotus: A Very Short Introduction (2011), among others.

Join us!

Date: Thursday, March 26, 2026.

Time: 12:30 p. m.

Room: NAC 5/218

Pizzas will be served / RSVP is appreciated but not required.