REQUEST TO WITHDRAW FROM A COURSE

- If you withdraw from 12 credits within two academic years, you will be placed on academic warning. If you drop 18 or more credits, you will be subject to dismissal.

- If you withdraw from course X, and it is a corequisite of course Y, then you must also withdraw from course Y.

- If you are enrolled for fewer than 12 credits, you might become ineligible for financial aid, scholarships, or your visa status.

- If you are not in good academic standing, dropping a course might violate the terms of probation under which you will be allowed to continue in your degree program.

I have read and understand the statements above.
