

Supplemental Instruction for Economics 201 (Statistics)

City Tutors at CCNY is now offering supplemental instruction (SI) in Principles of Statistics for Economics and Business. SI is intended to give students an opportunity to engage in guided practice outside of the classroom with a group of their peers. This format typically helps students develop better study habits. It also gives students a chance to share insights with one another, which can enhance and accelerate learning. Generally this results in better final grades in the course for students who participate.

Workshops begin on: March 17, 2014

Location: NAC 7/304

Weekly Workshops:

Group A will follow Professor Arakelyan's syllabus more closely and Group B will follow Professor Ma's syllabus more closely, but a student can sign up for a workshop in either group
