A score of 520 or above is a passing score on the EAS test. The total test score is based on the number of selected-response questions answered correctly and the score(s) on the constructed-response questions on the test. The total test scores are converted to a common scale. These scaled scores range from 400 to 600, with a scaled score of 520 representing the minimum passing score. If your test status is reported as "Pass," your total scaled score is 520 or higher. If your test status is reported as "Did Not Pass," your total scaled score is below 520.

For More Information

More information about the exam and its components can be found in the EAS test frameworks located at:

EAS General Information

What is the EAS?
The EAS stands for Educating All Students (EAS) test and is one of the required test for New York State Teacher certification.

Who takes the EAS?
All prospective teachers seeking initial certification in teacher education programs, as well as students in Leadership and Administration programs, are required to take the EAS test.

Components of the Test
The EAS test covers the following components:
1. Diverse student populations
2. English language learners
3. Students with disabilities and other special learning needs
4. Teacher responsibilities
5. School-home relationships

When to take the test
Preferably, the test should be taken after covering coursework in the areas of the five competencies, namely, (a) diverse student populations, (b) English Language Learners, (c) Students with disabilities and other learning needs, (d) Teacher responsibilities, and (e) school-home relationships; and just prior to student teaching, or during student teaching.

How to Prepare for the Test
a) Review the framework
Carefully review the test frameworks to understand what specific performance indicators are expected on this test.

b) Access online materials:
Access EAS review materials online at the LT RC webpage.

c) Take a practice Test
Practice tests are available to help students prepare for the exam. They can be taken on the NYSTCE website for $29.95 each.

d) Attend a workshop
CCNY’s education department holds workshops periodically throughout each semester to help students prepare for the exam and get an idea of what to expect. For more information go to: www.ccny.cuny.edu.

Registering for the Test
Computer-based testing is available at more than 225 Pearson authorized test centers. Before registering, you may check real-time seat availability and review test center locations.
- Check seat availability at www.pearsonvue.com/es/sa/

You should register as early as possible before your desired test date, as test centers schedule appointments on a first-come, first-served basis and seating is limited. If you need to change your registered date you can do so at least 24 hours prior to the test date.

To register for the test go to http://www.nystce.nesinc.com/ then click Register Now. Log-in with your username & password, if you do not have one, create an account. Next, click Register to Test, then follow the instructions.

Note: You must pay for the exam and wait for the confirmation before selecting the date or place of the exam.
